

VETERANS UPWARD BOUND

The Veterans Upward Bound program offers veterans the opportunity to obtain personal guidance and academic assistance in preparation for college, technical school, vocational fields or high school equivalency. The program offers individualized noncredit course work in mathematics, science, computer studies, English, reading and study skills. In addition, information and academic assistance are offered concerning educational options and opportunities, methods of obtaining financial aid, postsecondary admission and veterans' rights and benefits.

Individualized Instruction

Because instruction is individualized, veterans may begin their training in Veterans Upward Bound (VUB) at any time. Both day and evening classes are available. Course work is conducted on the campuses of North Dakota State University and the University of North Dakota. Veterans who intend to undertake postsecondary education but need preparatory training will find that VUB is the ideal program in which to begin their education.

Additional Assistance

The staff also assists veterans in selecting and securing admission to postsecondary institutions and in arranging for financial assistance. Veterans are offered advice concerning their rights and benefits and are referred to the appropriate offices for help.

Historical Perspective

Since its inception in 1972, the VUB has served thousands of veterans. These veterans have participated successfully in postsecondary institution after receiving their preparatory training through VUB. The VUB is funded through the Department of Education.
